In the Nick of Time.

The nick of time to stop the course of hadder and kidney complaints is when the argans concerned exhibit a tendency to grow inactive. The healthful impulse toward activity that they receive from Hostetter's Stomach Bitters rescues them from impending danger, and averts such dangerous maladies as Bright's disease and diabetes. Sluggishness of the kidneys increases a liability to chronic rheamatism, gout and dropsy, and since the blood is filtered by these organs in its passage through them, the operation of the bitters serves a doubly happy purpose. The medicine acts without exciting, like the fiery stimulents of commerce. Malarial, dyspeptic, constipated and nervous invalids are thoroughly relieved by it. Since the advent of that shocking malady, la grippe, it has been widely demonstrating its usefulness as a curative and preventative of it. The healthful impulse toward ac-

Morrice Tribune: The Owosso Press comes out this week with a cartoon representing reciprocity and protection as grinding the arms from labor. The cartoon is an insult to American institutions, an imposition upon the intelligence of its readers and should be beneath the dignity of any AMERICAN newspaper man. The fact that labor is better paid, better fed, better clothed and better educated in the same protection curs-ed county than in any other land upon which the sun ever shone, is being recognized sufficiently to cause a constant influx of laborers from every portion of the globe, and is a fact over which every loyal and and country loving American should glery, rather than attempt to veil.

HIRAM E. OLIVER, Prop.

In the hotel column of the Detroit Tri-bune we find the following: "Ex-Congress-man A. T. B'iss of Saginaw at the Wayne yesterday said concerning the governorship: The republicans, from all that I am able to learn, are i : earnest in asking for John T. Rich's nomination. They feel that had he been chosen two years ago we should not have had the same result and that this is the year to make amends. In view of this sen-timent I do not believe it is wise to work up a boom for somebody else. It is my belief that Rich is strong enough to carry the state by so large a majority that both branches of the legislature will be secure in spite of the gerrymander. The feeling that we cannot afford to ignore Rich again has so taken hold of the minds of the people that if he is again turned down the farmers may stay at home just as they did two years ago. Certainly it was the stay-at-homes among the farmers and other classes of people who defeated us then. I have since then receiv-ed quantities of letters from good republican friends who admitted that they failed to vote. I believe in expressing my honest convictions and I have no hesitation in say-ing that we cannot afford to have another experience of that kind. We can redeem the state with Rich. I like Mr. Pingree but I certainly do not think his nomination would be wise this year.

A little Girl's Experience in a Lighthouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Trescott are keepers of the Gov. Lighthouse at Sand Beach, Mich., and are blessed with a daughter four years old. Last April she was taken down with measles, followed with a dreadful cough and turning into a fever. Doctors at home and at Detroit treated her, but in vain; she grew worse rapidly, until she was a mere "handful of bones." Then she tried Dr. King's New Discovery and after the use of two and a half bottles, was completely cured. They say Dr. sing's New Discovery is worth its weight in gold, yet you may get a trial bottle free at Johnson & Henders

John T. Rich is First Choice.

From the Grand Rapids Eagle. All well informed republicans are aware that Hon. John T. Rich is the first choice of a large majority of the party in this state for governor. This is no disparagement to Mr. Pingree, but it is a simple fact. The sentiment which is being industriously manufactured for Mr. Pingree in certain quarters may give him a creditable standing in the convention, but it is very doubtful if it will be sufficient to give him the nomina-tion. Mr. Rich had a magnificent following in the convention of 1890, and his many warm friends and supporters at that time now believe that he should have the nomi-nation as a matter of simple justice. John T. Rich is undoubtedly the strongest candidate that the republican party can nominate for governor. At the same time, if it shall appear that Mayor Pingree is the choice of the convention, it will become the duty of every loyal republican voter in the state to support him. In party harmony lies the chief assurance of party success. The ef-forts of the democratic press, aided by a few thoughtless republican journals, to stir up dissensions in the republican party over this question, should be discouraged by every true republican in the state. The spirit of acrimony which Mr. Pingree's friends are exhibiting in this matter is not calculated to advance that gentleman's chances in the coming convention. Mr. Pingree has reafrom his friends.

Temperance.

CARLAND, MICH., May 7, '92, EDITOR TIMES:

A short time ago we heard an individual remark that prohibition was unconstitutional, in that it interfered with the liberty of the subject; he was neither temperance advocate or total abstainer, as you may easily guess. How few realize the wide difference in the definitions of these terms, temperance and abstinence; the former signifies the use in moderation of an article, and not the mi use, or abuse to excess, while the latter is reflected in the scriptural admonition "Touch not, taste not, handle not." But we are not going to preach a sermon, we leave that for the theological satirists and the medico-humorists of the day who are hiding the skulls of modern Golgotha with the rose wreaths of romance, instead of holding them up to view, in all their grin-ning and fleshless deformity. We have temperance revivals at intervals and the orator of the evening gives statistics and paints in sombre tints a pitiful word picture paints in sombre tints a pitiful word picture of a man ruined by liquor, gradually brightens the colors as he describes the reformation, and finally dipping his oratorical brush in the crimson and gold of a summer sunset, develops the butterfly of the respected and esteemed citizen from the chrysalis of the rum soaked saloon habitue. Then dramatically smitling his vest, he proclaims in stenorian tones "Behold the man" and calls upon the audience to sten to the and calls upon the audience to step to the platform and sign the pledge. The invitation is accepted by fair young maidens, who do not know the difference between brandy smash and a democratic convention, by staid and stately matrons and by respectable citizens to whom the very mention of strong citizens to whom the very mention of strong drink is abhorent and who only take their present course in the vain hope that their respective brothers, escorts and sons, who are cracking jokes and peanuts and expec-torating obscenity and tobacco juice in the back of the hall, will follow their example. Can any good thing come out of such a force? Does it represent the annual expenditure. Can any good thing come out of such a farce? Does it prevent the annual expenditure of one billion six hundred million dollars for alcoholic drinks, tobacco and opium, enough to give every man, woman and child in the United States a thirty dollar allowance of exhilarating quids, cigarettes and mental oblivion. More money spent in this manner than for food, clothing, education and foreign missions. Can it erase the fact that in our large cities there is one baker for every 470 families, one grocer for every 89 families and one liquor emporium for every 35 families. To whom shall we appeal for aid; where shall we find the Moses to lead us from this modern Egypt? Not in high license, for the saloon keepers say that business was never botter and protest egainst the reduction of their license to de-face, disgrace and destroy what God has made in His own image. Not in local option, for the option is often voluntary compulsion to vote with the crowd or be estracised by more influential neighbors. Not in prohibiting its manufacture, for there would be an illicit still in every other fence corner. Not in forbidding its sale, for the cunning dealer can sell a bottle or jug to his thirsty customer and fill it for nothing. Not in women's tears, they are only concentrated into the rays that flash from the solitaire in the shirt front of the saloon keeper and in the pearls that adorn the neck of the daughter of his bondsman Who will answer this weighty question? Many have undertaken the task, only to fall before the cohorts of King Alcohol. Others who could better handle the subject are so absorbed in the mad race for social distinc-tion or political preferment that they cannot see the outstretched hands, or hear the groans of the victims who are daily being mangled under the wheels of the jugger-nautic car of indulgence. FROM SLAVERY TO FREEDOM.

THE EMANCIPATION OF FRANK WILKINSON-BY THE MT. CLEMENS MONROE'S GOLD CURE.

How a Cure was Wrought.

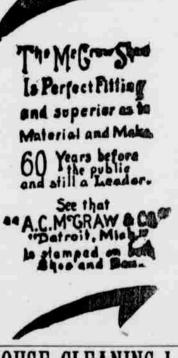

[From the M. Clemens Monitor of May 6.] To-morrow there goes from Mt. Clemens a young man who came here a slave and leaves a freeman.

He is Mr. Frank Wilkinson, a citizen of Detroit, and the first graduate of the Mt. Clemens Monroe's Gold Cure sanitarium. His eye is bright, his countenance clear, and, rid of a terrible appetite, he faces the world, his heart swelling with new hopes and aspirations.

"I have been one of these periodical drinkers," said Mr. Wilkinson to a reporter. "I would remain sober for several weeks, or months, and then go on a prolonged debauch, continuing sometimes for two months. I would feel these sprees coming upon me with fear and horror, and when I came out of them, a miserable wreek, had only disgust for myself, and was without hope of the future. My friends and family had almost given up expectation of my redemption, as I had myself. "In February last I came to Detroit, and almost immediately started on a grand carouse. I had heard of the Mt. Clemens Monroe's Gold Cure, and three weeks ago, while in a state of semi-intoxication, I boarded the train at Gratiot street and came up here. I began treatment at once. Sunday and Monday I drank freely, but on Tuesday I could not drink, and on Wednesday I had no desire remaining. From that time to this I have thought of liquor only with loathing. A barber put bay rum on my face the other day and it made me sick at the stomach. I believe I am permanently cured of the appetite that has cursed my life.

" During the treatment I have not simply experienced no bad effects, but have actually gained eight pounds in weight. My arm is not even sore. There has been a steady improvement in my general health. I shall leave here with a grateful heart, with a personal knowledge of the Monroe Cure that will enable me to speak of it in terms of greatest confidence and enthusiasm."

The Line of Lakes.

The Line of Lakes.

The above name has been applied to the Wisconsin Central Lines on account of the large number of lakes and summer resorts tributary to its lines. Among some of the well known summer resorts are Fox Lake, Ill., Lake Vilia, Ill., Waukesha. Mukwonago, Cedar Lake, Neenah. Waupaca, Filield, Butternut and Ashland, Wis. These lakes abound in numerous species of fish, such as black bass, rock bass, pickerel, pike, perch, muskallonge, while sportsmen will find an abundance of game, such as ducks, geese, quall, snipe, etc. In the grandeur of her scenery, the charming beauty of her rustic landscapes and the rare perfection of her summer climate, the state of Wisconsin is acknowledged to be without a peer in the union. Her fame as a refreshing retreat for the over heated, careworn inhabitants of the great cities during the indisummer months, has extended southward as far as the Gulf of Mexico and eastward to the Atlantic.
